sponsorship and grants

Sponsorship of community events and festivals has benefits for communities, as well as organisations and businesses in the local area.

HOW TO SECURE SPONSORS

You have to ask!!! A sponsorship proposal is the most comprehensive and professional approach to seeking sponsorship involvement from business. A sponsorship proposal should clearly:

- Highlight the various aspects of the event;
- List the benefits for the business of being associated with the event:
- List what you want and why (for example printing of programs to promote the event widely to the community);
- Indicate how much support (financial or in-kind) you are seeking;
- Indicate if there are various levels of sponsorship available (for example platinum, gold, silver);
- Present the proposal as an attractive proposition for any potential sponsor (typed and either stapled or bound);
- Try not to make the proposal too long or the person reading it could lose interest; and
- Personally deliver or mail the proposal, but ensure it is followed up with a telephone call within a week of sending if you have not had a reply. The most successful sponsorship proposals clearly link the event with the sponsor through identifying common goals. Remember it is usually easier to gain product or in-kind sponsorship than cash. So look at your event carefully and see where savings can be made through this kind of sponsorship.

HOW TO MAINTAIN

- Keep sponsors informed at all times, particularly any changes to agreed arrangements (or unforeseen circumstances that affect your event/ activity)
- Take care of your sponsors attend to all their requirements as soon as they are identified small details are important!

- Be creative, flexible and innovative in sponsorship ideas and sponsor benefits
- Be aware of developments in the business world and possible 'opponents' in seeking sponsorship
- Remember, post-event reports and "Thank you" to sponsors are essential.
